Index CartoPhilatelica

Index to The Carto-Philatelist and The New CartoPhilatelist

The first issue of The Carto-Philatelist appeared in March 1955. The introduction to this new journal described it as the “official bulletin of the Map Study Unit of the American Topical Association”. Publication continued until December 1995, when the Society went into abeyance. The Society became active again at the beginning of 2003, with a new set of officers at the helm. A revitalized journal, The New CartoPhilatelist, appeared from March 2003.

Within the pages of these two journals is a huge amount of cartophilatelic information, as well as interesting information about the members of the Society. Some of this material can be tracked down using the very useful cumulated tables of contents, compiled by Volker Woesner and available through the Society’s web pages. Tables of contents provide a broad-based approach to the contents of the journal, and are important for tracking down articles on specific topics.

A common feature of both of the Society’s journals is the wealth of information locked away in regular columns that have appeared for most of the time the journals have been published. The first was “All Over the Map” compiled for many years by Evelyn Nelson. Much of the material included in her column was information that today we would exchange via email. It is material that is not captured by a cumulated table of contents. The New CartoPhilatelist has a regular “Maps on Stamps New Issues” column, initially compiled by David Wolfersberger, and more recently by David with the assistance of K.K. Ang and Volker Woesner. Again, the details of new stamps are not captured in a cumulated table of contents, but they are in this index.

Index CartoPhilatelica also indexes information about members of the Society. Sometimes there is detailed information about a member; other times there is a single sentence noting that a member has passed away. All such people are indexed, regardless of the length of the entry about them.

The index caters for collectors with different collecting interests. Stamps showing lighthouses of Estonia, for example, will be found in the index under the heading ESTONIA, for those interested in the cartophilatelic output from Estonia, but also under the heading LIGHTHOUSES, for those who collect lighthouse stamps.

The first part of this index is the subject index, the second is the author index. Within the author index, entries are arranged alphabetically by author, and then chronologically under each author’s name.

The two journals issued by the Society have different volume/issue descriptions. Issues of The Carto-Philatelist (1955-1995) have volume and issue numbers. The number of issues per volume varied from two to six, depending upon the energy put into contributing articles by members. Volume numbers do not always correspond with calendar years, and it is common for the final issue of a volume to be published in January of the year following the year in which the volume began publication. The New CartoPhilatelist (2003 onwards) has used a constant issue numbering system, with no volume numbers.

In this index, entries are formatted in two styles. The first style, v.1(1), 1955:4-5.

means the information indexed will be found in Volume 1, Issue Number 1, of The Carto-Philatelist, which was published in 1955, and on pages 4 to 5.

The second style, no.68, 2020:1-4,19.

means the information will be found in issue number 68, of The New CartoPhilatelist, published in the year 2020, on pages 1 to 4, and concluding on page 19.

Acknowledgements

The work of Volker Woesner in producing cumulated tables of contents is invaluable, and the need for a continuation of this work does not disappear because of this index.

Reese Plews, the Society's website administrator, has provided technical advice without which this index could never have been completed. Reese has also provided continued encouragement for this project.

It is normal for special-interest societies that have a dispersed membership to publish a regular journal. The journal is the glue which holds a society together. This final acknowledgement is to those who over the years have edited the two journals, Editors far too often have a thankless task eliciting material to fill the pages, as is evident from the constant calls for "more articles please". Also to be acknowledged are those who answer the editor's call and contribute articles and snippets of information. Without their contributions there would be nothing to index!

Second edition, 2026

The original Index has been lightly edited, mostly to correct a few spelling mistakes, and is now updated to include issues up to number 91, October 2025. In the Subject Index, active links have been added to the "see" and "see also" entries to aid in navigation.

Issue number 91 was the last issue to be edited by David Wolfersberger. David became editor in January 2021 with issue number 72, and maintained a very high and meticulous standard throughout the term of his editorship. This updated Index is dedicated to the memory of David.

Production of this Index would not have been possible without the help of Reese Plews, who turned simple spreadsheets into this final product. Thank you Reese.
